Patriot Majority PAC Launches TV & Digital Ads
Supporting Conor Lamb in Pennsylvania Special Election

Washington, D.C. – Patriot Majority PAC will begin airing television ads in Pennsylvania's 18th Congressional District today, Wednesday, February 28, in support of Democrat Conor Lamb in the special election taking place on Tuesday, March 13.

The 30-second television ad, "Promotion," will air in the district over the next two weeks. Patriot Majority PAC began running digital ads in the district last week.

Patriot Majority PAC President and Pittsburgh native Craig Varoga says that the ads will educate voters in the district about the differences between Conor Lamb and his opponent.

"Conor Lamb is a Marine and former prosecutor, with a proven record of putting drug dealers behind bars, who will work to create good paying jobs, make healthcare more affordable, and protect Medicare and Social Security, whereas Rick Saccone has allowed lobbyists to pay for lavish meals for himself and billed Pennsylvania taxpayers $435,172 in questionable expenses, all on top of an $87,180 annual salary. Case closed."
